

ABSTRACT

Sub A17

According to the invention, systems, apparatus and methods are disclosed for installing a program onto a target machine, executing the program, and responsive to a change in profile data collected while the program executes which exceeds a 5 predetermined threshold, recompiling the program while the target machine is idle.